

Moral issue

Smart toilet

Intention

A smart toilet is coming to the market. The toilet analyzes the user's stool. If there are issues, the user is notified and can then consult a doctor or GP.

Explanation

The smart toilet analyzes the strength of the stream, color, and substance of the stool, as well as quickly tests its content, including glucose, proteins, blood, microorganisms, and other variables. The results are analyzed and continuously communicated to the user through an app. The IT supplier believes that this approach can save a significant amount of money as diseases are detected earlier, potentially saving many years of life. The IT supplier is collaborating with app developers and plumbers.